

Do your conflict of interest policies apply to students, residents, and faculty while they rotate/work at outside hospitals/clinics?

Yes, our policies apply to students, residents, and faculty regardless of where they are working.

Do the policies also apply to private clinician offices that trainees may rotate through?

They apply to the students who are working/learning at the private clinical offices, but not to the private clinicians.

Does your medical school have a conflict of interest curriculum for medical students, residents, and/or faculty? If so, please indicate to whom the curriculum is offered or required?

Yes, our medical school does have a curriculum (assuming you mean an Conflict of Interest curriculum), and it is offered to incoming medical students during Orientation. It is also a component of new faculty orientation, and a part of the orientation for Medical Residents.

Is the medical school curriculum either offered OR required for medical students, residents, and/or faculty?

We have a medical school curriculum and it is required for all medical students, residents, and faculty.

In what form is the curriculum presented?

All of the above -- lectures with PP slides, on-line presentations are available at the School of Medicine web site, articles are disseminated periodically, and panel discussions are conducted for faculty and residents.

Additional comments submitted: